A Message from Rabbi Baruch HaLevi~

High Holy Days 5773: Happy Rosh HaShanika

If ever there was a year to sing an Adam Sandler song its safe to say that would be this year with the recent craze our little town(s) have experienced with his and his co-actors' presence. Don't worry, however, we won't be revisiting the Hanukkah song (and no Christmas carols as well. Poor Cantor Elana is still recovering from her debut).

It's too bad, however, that Sandler never wrote a High Holy Day song. Truth be told, as fun, even as important as Hanukkah might be, it doesn't hold a candle (so to speak) to the Yamim Noraim - High Holy Days. Hanukkah may be eight crazy nights but the High Holy Days (contrary to popular practice) are technically ten nights spanning from Rosh Hashana to the Neila service at the end of Yom Kippur. However, in essence it is essentially one big holy day with one simple message: you have ten days to "return."

The only "return" on Hanukkah are all of those unwanted presents you received. The "return" of the Yamim Noraim, however, is one of the most important concepts and opportunities in Judaism. In essence, we can, at any moment, "return." We can return to community. We can return to relationships. We can return to the man/woman we set out to become. We can return to God. It may have been an awesome feat for our Maccabee ancestors to recapture the Temple. It is nothing compared to the miracle of being given another opportunity, a second chance, or hundred and second chance, to fix what we have broken, repair what we have neglected, replace what we have taken or return to what we have forgotten. We have ten days, each day as hopeful and opportunity filled as the next, to right our wrongs and return. Hopefully our loved ones will be forgiving of our mistakes, indiscretions, misdeeds, transgressions and sins. However, even if they are not, during these ten days we Jews believe God is forgiving. God will take us back if, and only if, we are willing to show up, do the work and return.

Return takes work, however, so put on your yarmulke even though its not Hanukkah; this journey into the Yamim Noraim may not be fun-icka but it is meaningful, it is a miracle and it is infinitely more important than getting presents from Aunt Veronica . Welcome back. Welcome home and have a happy, happy, happy, happy Yom Kippur and Rosh HaShanicka.

Rabbi B

A Message from Cantor Elana Rozenfeld~

I always loved the High Holy Days...even when I was a child. This was not because I did any kind of major self-reflection at twelve years old, but because the High Holy Days felt different to me, more exciting, more colorful, more dramatic than a typical Shabbat. I responded to the High Holy Day services the way one responds to a great opera: I was transported to a different emotional place. In fact, it was the heightened state of Rosh Hashanah that enabled me to have a revelation that changed my life.

That Rosh Hashana was at the beginning of my junior year of college at NYU's Tisch School of the Arts in NYC's East Village. The preceding year had been full of changes for me, including the death of my last remaining grandparent with whom I was very close, and of course, the terrorist attack on the Twin Towers, less than two miles from my home. That year, my own spiritual life had developed intensely, but not through the lens of Judaism. I wanted nothing to do with the rule-based religion of my birth, and lived the life of an artist, free from authority, from rules, and from community expectations. But at services on the second day of Rosh Hashana at the beginning of my junior year of college, I read the Torah, as I did every year since my Bat Mitzvah (even as an anti-authoritarian theatre artist...), and as I returned to sit with my parents, something had changed in me and I knew it. I proceeded to tell them that I wanted to reconnect to my Judaism. I told my parents that with all of my spiritual searching and my closeness to God, I needed a "container for my spirituality." Something to give it structure: a calendar, rituals, sacred objects, and whether I knew it or not at the time, community expectations.

That Rosh Hashana revelation was hugely important in my life, as it led to my return to Jewish observance, and later to becoming a cantor. In fact, my life as I know it is largely the result of that experience. However, this story is not about the revelation itself, or the impact it had on my life. Rather, the story is about the High Holy Days, the unique energy of this time of year, and the opportunity it gives us to reconnect with God.

As you probably know, I am a huge proponent of learning the prayers, the melodies, finding deeper meaning in services through knowledge and experience. To this end, I teach young and old to understand and to own tefillah so that they can find meaning in these ancient prayers. But, even more important than knowledge is attitude, having an open mind and an open heart.

I hope that this year during the High Holy Days, all of us come with an open mind and open heart, and allow ourselves to enter into the intensity of the moment: to hear the blast of the shofar, the enhanced expression of the prayer through music, and the emotional intensity of the rabbi's sermon. And most importantly, let's make a conscious effort to allow ourselves to feel.

Cantor Elana

A Message from Cantor Emeritus Emil Berkovits~

Hope and Affirmation

As we enter yet another New Year and as I continue in my position as Cantor Emeritus, I am still moved by prayers that keep surfacing through my thoughts as I begin my preparation for these High Holy Days. I paused a moment to reflect on a passage that immediately follows the “Great Alenu”, Ohilah La’eyl, a beautiful personal prayer that states:

*I firmly hope in God and plead with Him.
I ask Him to grant me the gift of speech,
That I may sing His praise among people,
And utter chants concerning His actions.
A man may prepare the thoughts in his mind,
But the power of speech comes from the Lord.*

Rav Amram Gaon (9th century)

This may be a prayer intended for the Sh’lich Tzibur, the representative of the congregation. It nevertheless sends a message of hope and affirmation of faith to all worshippers.

May we all join together in the beautiful prayers and the soulful music of our High Holy Days.

A Message from Robert E. Krentzman, CEO~

A Time to Reflect on the Past and Anticipate the Future...

As Jews all over the world reflect on the past year and anticipate what lies ahead in 5773, I personally feel very fortunate to know that my family and I will have our first full year here at CSH to review and all the friends that we have made (and have been reunited with!!) to be thankful for. You have made us feel very welcomed and an immediate part of the Shirat Hayam family.

I am proud to be a member of a passionate staff that is fully committed to providing exciting programs, events, projects and opportunities inclusive of every demographic in our congregation. The lay leadership has been incredibly active and supportive of our efforts, and the results are evident by the accolades we hear regularly about what an amazing place CSH is.

If you are a regular here at CSH and have taken part in our vast array of programming, thank you and please continue to be active and vocal with your desires and hopes. If you have not had the chance to get involved and to get to know some wonderful people...please do so; we promise it will be one of your better decisions in 5773!!

Please know that we are not only committed to creating an aura of “Radical Hospitality” each and every time you walk through our doors, but also to present new, innovative, groundbreaking alternatives to showcase, and utilize our facility as well as our congregation.

As Jews, we say L’hitraot...never to say “good bye” to one another, but rather “I look forward to seeing you again soon.” I look forward to seeing you again and again here at CSH.

My wife Lily, our son Brian and our dog Grace and I wish you and yours only the very best of what 5773 has to offer and we look forward to sharing many exhilarating times ahead together.

L’Shana Tora,

Bob

A Message from Andrew Caplan, CSH Board Chair~

Dear Congregational Family,

As I begin the second year of my term as chairman of the board, I take this opportunity to thank the many, many congregants who generously support CSH through volunteer efforts and financial contributions to the Lev Initiative. This past year was marked by an extraordinary amount of volunteerism (a topic that I will highlight in an upcoming Wave article). Thanks to a remarkable outpouring of support from congregants who "gave from the heart," the Lev Initiative raised more than any prior annual campaign of CSH or its predecessor synagogues.

It is my hope that you will continue to support the vision of CSH through volunteerism and by contributing to the Lev Initiative. When called upon, please give from your heart. With your help, we will continue our work to ensure that Shirat Hayam remains a beacon in the North Shore Jewish Community and beyond.

I am very excited about the upcoming year at Shirat Hayam. There is always something new happening here. If you haven't been here in a while, I encourage you to stop by and take advantage of one of our services, programs or classes.

On behalf of myself and my family, we wish you and yours a healthy, prosperous and fulfilled New Year.

All men are required to wear a head covering and Jewish men are required to wear a tallit. Women who are called to the Torah are required to wear a head covering.

The use of cell phones during the High Holy Days is prohibited in the synagogue. Please silence your cell phones.

Smoking is not permitted at any time on Shirat Hayam property. Your cooperation and respect for your fellow congregants is greatly appreciated.

The circular driveway at the front entrance may be used for drop-off and pickup only. Please be courteous to pedestrians. Parking for the High Holy Day services is available on the side and at the rear of Shirat Hayam. Additional parking is available where permitted on Atlantic Avenue. Parking is prohibited along both sides of the driveway and where indicated. Please do not leave your car running and unattended.

Additional parking will be available in the Nissenbaum lot across Atlantic Avenue (the former Temple Israel parking lot).

For the safety and security of all, enter through the FRONT doors. Please have your tickets available to present to the greeters.

Handicapped Parking ~ For those with proper handicap identification, designated parking will be available on the side of the building where indicated. For your convenience, the circular driveway may be used for drop-off and pick-up. For your safety and the safety of your passengers, please leave enough time to drop off your passengers.

The Yizkor Service on Yom Kippur is intended to honor and remember deceased parents, relatives, friends and martyrs of our people. Because this service is so inclusive in scope, everyone is encouraged to participate. In addition, we will have a collective remembrance of the martyrs in Jewish history, including individuals who perished in the Holocaust. For this reason, there is no need for a person who has living parents to leave the sanctuary when Yizkor is recited.

We mourn the loss of the following members who have been called to their eternal rest during the past year:

Sadie Appelstein

Pauline Orloff
